Dear Talabat Recruitment Team,

I am Siddharth, a product leader with 8+ years building consumer tech products at scale. I bring hands-on expertise in designing agentic workflows, collaborating with engineering and commercial teams, and shipping products that drive measurable business impact. I am particularly excited about applying this to B2B commercial challenges.

Here are three reasons why I believe I am a strong fit:

- End to End Product Delivery: Ideated, launched, validated, scaled, and optimised multiple products that cumulatively scaled to 200k+ users and earned $30 million in revenue.
- Entrepreneurial Experience: Launched a startup, raised funds from The World Bank, and scaled the product to 120k+ users, through GTM strategies, partnerships, and integrated workflows
- AI-powered Workflows: Built LangChain + RAG prototypes and designing agentic systems that automate complex processes

While my background is in EdTech and JobTech, the core skills—building AI tools, optimizing customer journeys, collaborating across functions, and shipping high-impact products—transfer directly to your B2B commercial context.

Talabat's mission to transform local delivery across 70+ countries resonates deeply. I am drawn to building AI solutions that empower your commercial teams to acquire, onboard, and retain merchant partners more effectively at global scale.

Sincerely,

Siddharth Mishra
